

Operation Sindoor Awareness Session Held

An enlightening and thought-provoking awareness session on Operation Sindoor was conducted at Army Public School Ahmedabad Cantt recently. The session aimed to sensitise students about national security, responsible digital behavior, and the critical importance of cyber vigilance. The session was conducted by Col Patil, a senior army officer, who engaged the young minds with real-time insights on information warfare, online threats, and the strategic role of youth as Info warriors. His talk highlighted how students can contribute to national awareness through conscious online behaviour and digital discipline.

The session witnessed enthusiastic participation from 250 students, guided by 15 teachers, with the presence of 2 esteemed officers from the Indian Army. Through compelling examples and interactive dialogue, the session emphasised the essence of patriotism in the digital age and the ongoing efforts under Operation Sindoor. The school principal Sangeeta Patel, appreciated the initiative, calling it a "necessary bridge between students and soldiers in the mission of national awareness and cyber responsibility." Such initiatives by the Indian Army continue to empower young citizens and instill in them the values of alertness, accountability, and service to the nation.
